

We Need A
Just Recovery Now!

There is no going back to normal: Forward to a Just Recovery!

As we rebuild our society and economy from the impact of COVID-19, we must ensure a Just Recovery that follows these five principles:

1

Put people's health first, no exceptions

2

Provide economic relief directly to the people

3

Help our workers and communities, not corporate executives

4

Create resilience for future crises

5

Build solidarity and community across borders – do not empower authoritarians.

The struggle for equality and environmental, racial and gender justice are one and the same. While the pandemic has weakened us and deepened the divides in our society, we have a chance to transform the deeply unequal nature of the South African economy.

A Just Recovery will:

- Reject austerity by rebuilding public services. Invest in care work and social infrastructure such as education and health services.
- Include a just transition to renewable energy
- Bring about a structural transformation of our economy, not structural reforms to it.
- Ensure democratic, public ownership of enterprises, services and assets.
